

Debora Fields

NAIL POLISH

Inorganic nail polishes are made up of highly toxic materials. They can cause problems in upper respiratory problems, irritants for eyes, skin and mucous membranes. Some in high doses are severely poisonous. They are also very flammable. Some of the ingredients are used in embalming fluid. For people that are really sensitive to or have problems in these areas already could become deathly sick or die. For those that are not as sensitive to these ingredients, could still cause health issues.